The instructors understand what airlines are looking for when recruiting cabin crew and will help you prepare for interviews and exceed the airlines expectations.

INDUSTRY CONNECTIONS

Students have access to Aviation Australia's Employment Support Services from the first day of training until well after you graduate. We have strong industry relationships with national and international airlines who recruit from our graduate pool. You will be notified of job opportunities and can ask for feedback and advice on your applications.

The Flight Safety Training Centre is used by major airlines to train their own staff.
