Macleay College courses in business foster entrepreneurial thinking with a focus on action and project-based learning. Interactive presentations, industry-specific case studies, teamwork, individual assignments and small business-related projects stimulate innovative thinking to help students achieve their potential.

Careers that can take students anywhere

Whilst the world of business may be a uniting thread, students may be interested in discovering the world by being part of the sports or event industry. Or intrigued by the way Apple has managed to sell 360 million iPads since debuted in 2010. Alternatively, some students are itching with their own ideas and the best way to scratch them means studying entrepreneurship. The choice of business specialisation is up to each individual.

The admissions criteria differs for each course. It is recommended that students speak to a member of the Admissions Team who will advise on the criteria and how this will be applied to each individual's circumstances. Sydney campus is right in the heart of Surry Hills and a two minute walk from Central Station (trains and buses). Surry Hills sits on the edge of Sydney's CBD and much of its character is due to the number of original industrial buildings and warehouses still there, many of which have been converted into apartments and work spaces. The area is also known for its many cafés and interesting restaurants. In addition to the high number of local businesses being involved directly or indirectly with the creative industries, Surry Hills is recognised as one of Sydney's most creative suburbs.

Melbourne

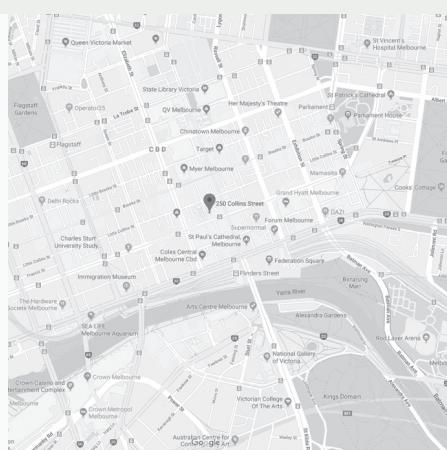

L7, 250 Collins Street, Melbourne. 3000

A short walk from the iconic Flinders Street Station and Federation Square which is host to galleries, shops and ACMI (the Australian Centre for Moving Image), Macleay's Melbourne campus could hardly be more central or more accessible. Sitting on the southern edge of Melbourne's CBD and metres away from where Collins Street and Swanston Street meet, the College is surrounded by an eclectic mix of cafés and shops. The National Gallery of Victoria, Australia's longest running, largest and most visited art museum, is just across the Yarra River.

ESOS

Higher educational providers must meet minimum standards set by:

TEQSA (The Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency) to enable registration under the ESOS (Education Service for Overseas Students) Act. This protects Australia's reputation for delivering quality education services and the interests of overseas students, by setting minimum standards and providing tuition and financial assurance.

The ESOS Act mandates a nationally consistent approach to registering education providers so that the quality of the tuition and care of students remains high. The professionalism and integrity of the industry is further strengthened by the ESOS Act's interface with immigration law. This imposes visa-related reporting requirements on both students and providers.

The National Code is a set of nationally consistent standards that govern the protection of overseas students and delivery of courses to students by providers that are registered on the Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS).
